Superior protection with premium laminates

This option provides superior shock and scratch resistance thanks to its innovative layered design and 7H RPET material, offering unrivalled durability and clarity compared to traditional films. Ideal for customers looking for advanced protection and a professional quality finish on their devices.

Compatible with a wide range of devices

These universal films can be cut to fit screens up to 18 x 12 cm using the KSIX 2025 Plotter machine. From the latest smartphones and tablets to smaller devices such as smartwatches, the protectors guarantee full and secure coverage for any model.

Space and stock optimisation

With the KSIX 2025 Plotter, shops can cut and customise screen protectors on the spot, eliminating the need to stock large quantities of pre-defined protectors. This helps to avoid problems with obsolete stock and reduces the space needed to store different models.

Constant device updates

The integrated KSIX 2025 Plotter app constantly updates its database with the latest device models. This ensures that you will always have the right cutting design available for the newest devices, without having to worry about manual updates or complicated configurations.

Cost effective and immediate benefits

The film pack, together with the KSIX 2025 Plotter machine, offers a cost-effective solution for any shop. Thanks to the margins on each cut sheet, the initial cost of the machine is quickly amortised, without the need to purchase a separate protective sleeve for each device.
