Laptop triple display, 15.6", Full HD IPS, 100% sRGB, 60 Hz, HDR, foldable, 65W PD

DESCRIPTION

Transform your laptop into a complete workstation with a triple display designed to give you more space, more order and greater comfort while you work. Its three 15.6” panels expand your visual area so you can manage several tasks at once, compare documents, follow video calls, review data or create content without relying on a fixed monitor. A portable solution that lets you take desktop-level productivity with you.

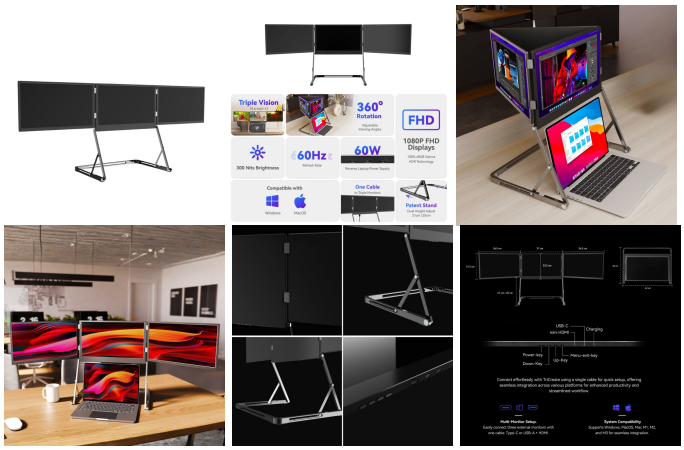

Triple display for smarter working

Multiply your workspace with three independent screens that let you keep everything in view. Open a video call on one panel, check information on another and work on your main document without constantly switching between windows. Ideal for remote working, data analysis, presentations, editing, browsing or any task that needs better visual organisation.

Full HD image with vivid colour

Each screen offers Full HD 1080p resolution with IPS technology, delivering a clear, stable and comfortable image from different viewing angles. 100% sRGB coverage brings more intense and accurate colours, while the 60 Hz refresh rate and HDR technology help provide smoother, sharper and more realistic viewing.

Foldable and portable design

Its foldable structure lets you adjust the position of the screens and adapt them to each workspace. Set it up at home, take it to the office or use it while travelling to create a multi-screen setup in just a few seconds. When you are done, it folds away easily for more convenient storage and transport.

Simple control from the device

Adjust brightness quickly using the integrated buttons and adapt the screen to the ambient light or the type of content you are using. Its design is made to keep the experience practical from the very first use, with a clear, comfortable setup built for everyday working.

Compatible and ready for your pace

Compatible with Windows, Mac and Linux, it fits easily into different work environments. It also includes 2 × 2 W integrated speakers, a metal structure and power through a 65 W PD adaptor, combining productivity, portability and a more complete user experience in one device.
